

Task 1: Spiritual Progression Portfolio

Guiding Principle 1: Seek Jesus Christ First in All Things

My first guiding principle is to place Jesus Christ at the center of every decision I make. The Savior's teachings provide direction not only in my spiritual life but also in my education, career, and relationships. As I strive to become a disciple of Jesus Christ, I have learned that spiritual growth requires consistent scripture study, prayer, and obedience to God's commandments. When my priorities are aligned with the Savior, I experience greater peace, clarity, and confidence in pursuing my educational and professional goals.

Professionally, this principle reminds me to practice integrity, honesty, accountability, and compassion. Rather than pursuing success solely for personal achievement, I seek opportunities to serve others through my knowledge and skills. My education in Information Technology becomes a means of blessing individuals and organizations by solving problems ethically and responsibly.

Guiding Principle 2: Lifelong Learning Leads to Continuous Improvement

I believe that learning is a lifelong process. Education extends beyond earning a degree; it is about continually improving knowledge, skills, character, and wisdom. Every challenge provides an opportunity to grow. Through my studies in Information Technology and my professional experiences, I have learned the importance of adaptability, curiosity, and resilience.

Spiritually, lifelong learning also means continually seeking revelation and increasing my understanding of the gospel. As President Russell M. Nelson has taught, learning how to hear the voice of the Lord is an essential lifelong pursuit. Combining spiritual and professional learning allows me to become more capable of serving others while achieving personal excellence.

Guiding Principle 3: Serve Others Through Knowledge and Leadership

One of my greatest desires is to use my education to improve the lives of others. Leadership is not merely holding a position of authority; it is influencing people through service, integrity, and example. Whether mentoring students, supporting colleagues, or assisting organizations through technology, I strive to make meaningful contributions.

The gospel teaches that true greatness comes through service. This principle motivates me to develop both technical expertise and Christlike attributes so I can become a trustworthy leader who uplifts others professionally and spiritually.
